These are the confessions of a caregiver. When applying for the job no one would ever apply for, there are a series of requirements you'll need: You are the nurse, handing medications at home and reminding a chemo-brained man to take the right pills at the right time. You are the chauffeur, driving to and from chemotherapies.

Confessions of a Caregiver. April 21, 2016. Tim Moran. I have a cold. I NEVER have a cold; I am unbelievably blessed with good health. But I have a bad, cough-until-your-ribs-hurt, stuffy-head-and-I-ache-all-over cold. I would love a day to lie on the couch with the remote, while my husband brings me chicken noodle soup and fluffs my pillow.

This is the inaugural post for the Confessions of a Caregiver page where I hope to engage other caregivers or those who see caregiving in their future, to share tips and tricks or blow off steam, but mostly to find encouragement. It is a rewarding challenge to care for those you love, and still love them in spite of the physical and emotional hurdles involved.

Joe Skillin and his wife took into their home his mother-in-law, a once vivacious and fun spirit now suffering from Alzheimer's. 'When Mom developed Alzheimer's and came to live with us, we were clueless about what this visit would become. We quickly became aware of the negative aspects of this entire situation a " Alzheimer's the sickness, the suffering the disease inflicted on Mom, the change of priorities and schedules, the strain on my wife, and the apparent squeeze on our freedom or certainly our normal schedule. All those negative feelings a "they were real, daily, imposing, and eating at my soul.' What effect does Alzheimer's have on the caregiver? This book was written for youa "the caregiver of the Alzheimer's patient or any full-time caregivera "to prepare you for the emotional rollercoaster you will experience. Joe bares his anger, resentment, frustrations, and eventually his love and hope as he and his wife live the caregiver's life. While reading of his trials and triumphs, you will understand the simple tools he uses to cope with the daily frustrations and difficulties. Gain a deeper understanding of your own situation from Confessions of a Caregiver."

Compiled by Author Twylia G. Reid "Confessions of a Caregiver" is a powerful anthology that shares intimate accounts of 6 caregivers' journeys into the unknown realm of caregiving. Brutally honest and written from the heart, they share intimate chronicles of caring for their loved ones while attempting to care for themselves. Hear how their frustrations have caused their lives to become filled with challenges that can sometimes become too much to bear. The shock of each long day in this role can sometime leave you feeling helpless, hopeless, and absolutely clueless. Overflowing with themes of perseverance, faith, love, and forgiveness you will hear stories of strength, determination, compassion, and humor that will linger with you for a lifetime. These chronicles of faith will empower, encourage, and enlighten you allowing you to see how God truly works in the lives of believers. And, like the women in this book, you will go through life encouraged to never lose hope knowing you can do all things through Christ who truly gives you the strength to do so.

This is our story as told with my deepest, true confessions as the role of a caregiver for someone who has a demyelinating disease. Our story is not much different than other caregivers and the sick one they tend. This is personal journey and it is a spiritual one as well. This is our ups and downs, our victories and our defeats.

Life has a way of changing in the blink of an eye one day you're calling your love one after they get off work or come home from the store and before you realize it time has slipped away or something unfortunate happens. You find yourself sitting in the doctor's office hearing that they can no longer function without support or live alone anymore. Do not get anxious for anything the Word of God says and know you are not alone. There were approximate 43.5 million unpaid caregivers according to AARP in 2015 and God is a present help in a time of need. Contained in this book are lessons learned and prayers prayed by an ordinary woman who accepted the opportunity to serve her elderly parents.

This manual is a compilation of short stories and 25 TIPS for surviving Alzheimer's caregiving.

Caregiver is a general term referring to anyone who provides care for a person who needs extra help. This book is a powerful anthology that shares intimate accounts of 6 caregivers' journeys into the unknown realm of caregiving. Brutally honest and written from the heart, they share intimate chronicles of caring for their loved ones while attempting to care for themselves. Hear how their frustrations have caused their lives to become filled with challenges that can sometimes become too much to bear. The shock of each long day in this role can sometime leave you feeling helpless, hopeless, and absolutely clueless.

Bobbi Carducci's life was about to change. Her ill father-in-law 's odd behavior was a mystery when he came to live with her and Mike. For the next seven years Bobbi did everything she could to save him from himself-while he tried to convince everyone that he didn't need her and that she was crazy. "Brutally honest and written from the heart, Carducci's intimate chronicle of caring for her father-in-law is a poignant story of strength, compassion, and humor that will linger with you long after you read the last page. Highly recommended for anyone caring for an elderly parent." Jan Neuharth, author of the Hunt Country Suspense novels "Confessions of an Imperfect Caregiver, perfectly encapsulates the human experience, not just the caregiver's. When we live in a world of worry, stress and self-doubt, where do we find the strength to go on? Bobbi's retelling of her caregiving years unfolds in a beautiful answer to the questions posed by sickness, health, care, and loss." Alexandra Axel, Media Director, The Caregiver Space Bobbi is an award winning author and multi published short story writer. Her work has appeared in numerous anthologies and publications, in print and online. Bobbi's website and blog can be found at www.bobbicarducci.com and theimperfectcaregiver.com. Bobbi also blogs monthly for TheCaregiverSpace.org and AgingCare.com.

Life goes from Hollywood to Michigan to Mars when Lisa and her family take in her grandmother who has progressive dementia. The Weaver family quickly discovers that she isn't the only one suffering. The "comicals" of Nora Jo bring a whole new realm of "crazy" to their offbeat but copasetic abode, driving it into full-throttle Darwinian mode. It's officially "Survival of the Fittest" at the Weaver joint, and even the dogs are contemplating a quiet exit to "the farm." The question is, how high a price can they pay for this traumatic change? And that's when this foursome redefines the meaning of "compassion."

What happens when a two-year-old and a 92-year-old join forces and conspire against their primary caregiver? The picture is at times not pretty, but it's always heartwarming and witty. Elder care attorney Cathy Sikorski penned this memoir about her days as a stay-at-home mom whose life is turned upside down when her Nana moves in. In between the adventures and misadventures that ensue when the toddler and grandmother become allies, Sikorski learns about patience, the importance of humor and the joy that results from a well-deserved nap.
