I'm so sorry to hear that she is missing. If you live in an area with bears and coyotes you should keep the cats indoors because they will kill them sooner or later. If you live in a wooded area she may have been chased up a tree by a predator and be too scared to come back down. When you go and look for her check up in the trees too.

Cat Never Came Home | TheCatSite

Indoor cats like ample stay to roam and play, as well as access to multiple hiding spaces. Exercise is important as cats are very active pets and so room to play as well as access to cat toys such as scratching posts are very beneficial. Indoor cats are more secluded than outdoor cats are so will need to be interacted with more often.

Indoor Cats & House Cats, RSPCA Cat Advice | RSPCA
Indoor cats are protected from viruses and disease that can be spread from cat fights, and interactions (as can vaccinating!) Don't let your cat outside if you live in a dangerous area (cars hit by car, aggressive dogs chasing them off). Spay and Neuter: Spaying and neutering (or sterilizing) is the number one way to prevent roaming!

Once home, place your cat in his room with an open door and leave him alone for an hour or more Do not force him out of the room Let him come out of his own accord and keep the door open so he can dash back to his refuge

Settling your cat into their new home

With many cats needing homes in the UK, our centres are often full. There are countless cats waiting for an owner to give them love, care and attention. We aim to make sure all cats and kittens in our care are ready for their new homes. When you adopt a cat with Cats Protection, you can be sure they have received:

Is Your Cat Hiding? Here's Why — And What to Do - Catster

Many cats meow when their people come home, or even when they just meet them in the house. This is a hard habit to break, but look at it as kitty saying they are happy to see you. They are lonely. If you pet spends too many hours a day alone, think about getting a pet sitter to enrich your pet's life. Put a bird feeder outside a window they ...

Cat Excessive Meowing and Yowling: Why Cats Meow

If the cat hasn't come home in a day, it's time to start looking. Every once in awhile, cats will either intentionally or unintentionally be taken on a ride out of the area. Intentional instances are situations where someone has stolen your cat. It is sad that people do these sorts of things, but it is not unheard of.
