Case #1. You are seeing a 66-year-old woman with hypertension that has been hard to control. The patient has non-proteinuric CKD-3 (GFR, 40 cc/min by MDRD calculation) and is on a 3 drug-regimen for blood pressure control: amlodipine 10 mg/day; valsartan 320 mg/day; hydrochlorothiazide 12.5 mg/day. Comparing home monitoring blood pressure readings with office values demonstrates that she is consistently above her target blood pressure.

The use of 4 medications to control BP defines the patient as having resistant hypertension, and the prevalence of this condition is not known. Patients that present with resistant HTN usually have a long-standing history of poorly controlled HTN and often have cardiovascular risk factors such as DM, chronic kidney disease (CKD), left ventricular hypertrophy (LVH) and/or obstructive sleep apnea.

Background: Obstructive sleep apnea syndrome (OSAS) has been linked to resistant hypertension, but the magnitude of this association and its independence of confounding have not been established.

Methods: Case patients were 63 patients with resistant hypertension (BP \geq 140/90 mm Hg using at least three BP-lowering drugs, including a diuretic), and control subjects were 63 patients with controlled BP receiving drug treatment.
