Under the Sea - A Shape Poem by Jasmine. Click on the image to view a large version. About the Poem. I chose dolphins because they're so intelligent and graceful when they glide through the water. I added a jellyfish because whenever I think of creatures under the sea I always put dolphins and jellyfish together-maybe because they're so different, they make a good contrast!

Under the Sea—A Shape Poem by Jasmine

Here's a list of some of these brilliant ocean poems starring the sea. 1. The Rime of the Ancient Mariner by Samuel Taylor Coleridge. 2. Dover Beach by Matthew Arnold. The sea is calm tonight. The tide is full, the moon lies fair. Upon the straits; on the French coast the light.

1. Anonymous, "The Seafarer". This 124-line poem is often considered an elegy, since it appears to be spoken by an old sailor looking back on his life and preparing for death. He discusses the solitariness of a life on the waves, the cold, the danger, and the hardships. As such, the poem captures the bewitching fascination the sea holds for us, but also its darker, more unpredictable side.

Year 3 Shape poems | Broad Heath Primary School

In a strange city lying alone. Far down within the dim West, Where the good and the bad and the worst and the best. Have gone to their eternal rest. There shrines and palaces and towers. (Time-eaten towers that tremble not!) Resemble nothing that is ours. Around, by lifting winds forgot, Resignedly beneath the sky.

Sea Poems – Poem For Sea – Poem Hunter

The shape poem below opens itself up to an array of beach-themed imagery. The obvious choice would be a seagull, but students can also choose something like the shape of a wave. Broad topics like this leave plenty of room for artistic inspiration. The seagulls squawk noisily in the breeze.

The feeling of mounting anticipation as one steps onto the stage to dance is indescribable. All mundane concepts and concerns are left behind for a brief, timeless spell to simply express and share all the joy and wonder availed to us beyond the veil of the material world. It had never occurred to me that the written word could also have a similar effect. Aside from several love poems and channeled writings, I had not, until fairly recently, been aware of the fact that the medium of writing may also be a springboard for sharing where one s thoughts, dreams, aspirations, and soul intentions can find a foothold in reality, not until I inadvertently stumbled upon a veritable community of poets on social media. To know that I could allow my thoughts to take shape in forms not traditionally acceptable was gratifying, to say the least. With the writing of each of these poem shapes in Sea Moon, I felt as though I had stepped, like the dancer at heart that I am, and perhaps we all are, into a welcoming forum of word wielders. It s not without the support of other poets, therefore, that I m propelled here to embrace my direction, one whose ultimate goal is to touch people on as wide a scale as possible by simply conveying ideas that might strike melodious chords. I speak my truth here in the knowledge that many of the like-minded will welcome my organically honed word shapes (call it poetry or not) and resonate with them. I believe in the transformative power of all forms of art. If writing be an art form, then let us step lightly into this sanctioned art space, as both writer and reader (as performer and audience) and, respecting fully its ever-changing boundaries, allow the symbolism the beauty of words, as M. Marceau put it to penetrate our receptive orbs and have their essence filter through and transform our whole beings. It is with a deep-seated desire to touch and to share that I offer you my words, as structured here, in the hope that even a single resonate note will be struck, perhaps to reverberate. Beyond hope, I trust, and know, that we are ready for fresh waves of color to wash over us to cleanse, nourish, and transform us so that we might all actually be the dancers at heart that we truly are. Enjoy!"
